Organisational Accountabilities

RMIT is committed to the safety, wellbeing and inclusion of all staff and students. As a staff member, you are expected to comply with all relevant legislation and RMIT policies, including those related to: Equal opportunity, Occupational health and safety, Privacy and trade practices & Child safety standards:

Appointees are responsible for completing all required training and ensuring that they and their team members remain up to date on relevant compliance obligations.

Staff are expected to understand and support RMIT's child safe practices as part of their professional responsibilities. More about our child safety commitment: <https://www.rmit.edu.au/about/our-locations-and-facilities/facilities/safety-security/child-safety>.

Leadership at RMIT

At RMIT, leadership is not defined by position or hierarchy—it is a shared responsibility demonstrated by all staff, regardless of role or title. Leadership is grounded in our six core values, which guide and shape how we work together, make decisions, and create impact.

Effective leadership means consistently integrating these values into everyday actions and interactions, whether influencing a project outcome, supporting a colleague, or leading a team. All staff are expected to embody the principles of the Be–Know–Do Leadership Model:

Be – We are open and authentic, inclusive and empowering. We are purpose driven role models and communicators.

Know – We are self-aware, and understand our stakeholders, our sector and priorities.

Do – We set clear direction and expectations, we develop ourselves and others and promote mutual accountability to deliver results.

At every level, leadership at RMIT is about influence, contribution, and mindset. It is reflected in how we empower others, foster collaboration, and drive positive change through capability-building and alignment to strategic goals.

Research and Innovation Portfolio

RMIT uses its global presence, urban environment and community and industry connections to capture opportunities and ensure our research makes a difference. Our focus on application and transformation is having a positive impact on communities and the environment. Our aspiration is to make a significant contribution to knowledge in our areas of specialisation and identify and develop innovative approaches to build economic prosperity and to address problems affecting society.

RMIT has eight Enabling Impact Platforms (EIPs) which go beyond a traditional academic discipline based view of the world. EIPs are clusters of research excellence that can be deployed to deliver significant positive economic, social, and environmental impact. It is through connecting our areas of research excellence and deploying that excellence to address others' needs that RMIT will make a substantial difference. The EIP areas are in Advanced Materials, Manufacturing and Fabrication; Biomedical and Health Innovation; Design and Creative Practice; Global Business Innovation; Information and Systems (engineering), Social Change; Urban Futures; and Sustainable Development Technologies and Systems. Find out more about EIPs at <https://www.rmit.edu.au/research/our-research/enabling-impact-platforms>

Researchers at RMIT University are based in Schools and are affiliated with our EIPs. This enables us to provide focus and support for outcome-related multi-disciplinary research, undertaken in collaboration with leading organisations and industry partners. These collaborations ensure our research outcomes make a difference.

RMIT's Research and Innovation Portfolio supports researchers to help shape the world. The portfolio has an engaged, energetic, talented, and collaborative team focused on enabling excellent research and innovation outcomes. With a global presence, community, and industry connections, we support cutting edge-research and careers that make a positive impact on communities.

The Research and Innovation Portfolio supports researchers and graduate researchers with research partnerships, grants and research contracts, funding opportunities, capability development, research training, ethics and integrity, intellectual property, commercialisation, internships, communication, and profile. Through the School of Graduate Research, the Portfolio is responsible for promoting and enhancing research education and training at RMIT to ensure the highest standard of research candidate experience is possible.

Position Summary

The Vice-Chancellor's Indigenous Research Fellow will be aligned with one or more of RMIT's Strategic Research Priority Areas. They will be located within a School environment but expected to work across disciplines.

The role is primarily to plan, develop, and engage in high quality, transdisciplinary, externally linked and impact-focused research projects, which address local, national, regional, and global challenges in line with the University's Strategic Research Priority areas. The Indigenous Research Fellow will be expected to deliver excellent research outcomes with a strong focus on impact and translation.

The Vice-Chancellor's Indigenous Research Fellow will contribute to planning and strategy, participate in committees, networks, projects and alliances within their School, College, the University and with industry, community, government, advocacy, arts, NGO, health or other bodies external to the University, as appropriate.

The Vice-Chancellor's Indigenous Research Fellow will be expected to attract external research funding including competitive grants from both national and international sources and produce high-quality outputs.

The position may undertake limited teaching duties in relevant areas.

The position is open to candidates who do not currently hold a continuing academic appointment with RMIT University.

Key Accountabilities

- To conduct high-quality research individually or as part of a team within the foci of one or more of RMIT's Strategic Research Priority Areas, with a strong focus on impact and translation, and interdisciplinary research.
- Contribute to RMIT's external research collaborations and profile by attracting and competing for Australian competitive grants, fellowships, as well as partner-oriented research income.
- Extend the research performance and reputation of the discipline through effective engagement with industry, government and community sectors. Use these relationships to develop interdisciplinary collaborative impact focused projects with stakeholders both inside and outside RMIT and from the local to the national environments.
- Successfully manage research activities and milestones by ensuring progress reviews for RMIT and industry partners are completed to the required level, within agreed timeframes and budget restraints.
- Regularly disseminate research outcomes and communicate with other team members, clients and the broader research community internal and external to RMIT University through high quality papers and journal articles (or equivalent), delivery of seminars, and conference attendance.
- Contribute to the development and application of plans to enhance delivery of research outcomes and performance within the School and across the University.
- Develop and build collegiality, and embrace diversity, through active interactions and participation in events, forums, workshops in the School, College, Enabling Impact Platforms and broader research community and networks of the University.
- Assume joint responsibility for career development by actively participating in various activities and producing a jointly agreed development plan.
- Undertake supervision of research students and may undertake limited teaching duties.
- Undertake administrative duties as required.
- Be a positive advocate for research excellence, innovation and translation that supports cutting edge research and makes a positive impact on communities.

Key Selection Criteria

1. Established track record as evidenced through the production of quality research outputs, success in attracting external research funding, and conducting complex collaborative projects.
2. Evidence of original intellectual contribution, critical thinking, self-motivation in pursuit of career goals, and emerging leadership ability.
3. Demonstrated experience in conducting research in an area aligned with one or more of RMIT's Strategic Research Priority Areas, including research outputs at national and international level and/or successful research translation, working across different disciplines.
4. Demonstrated capability to consult, interact and collaborate effectively within and external to the organisation, with the high level of communication skills required to move across academic, government and industry constituencies, especially to further research translation and impact, including influence on policy or practice.
5. Ability to work independently and as part of a successful research team with a focus on collaborative and participative research practices, using a high level of interpersonal and communication skills, preferably within a cross-disciplinary environment.
6. Demonstrated project management skills from planning through to implementation including the ability to deliver against targets, timelines, and budget constraints.
7. Demonstrated supervisory and/or leadership skills in research, including research training and supervision, in an inclusive and respectful manner.
8. Strong commitment to the values and behaviours consistent with RMIT's enterprise vision, goals and strategic plans see <https://www.rmit.edu.au/about/our-values>.
