

Walert House

Accommodation

If you're a future Ngarara Willim student and considering moving closer to campus while studying at RMIT, you'll find there's plenty of options available. When deciding where you'll live, think about:

- Proximity to your main campus
- Transportation options, and how you'll get from home to class
- Access to facilities you'll need to maintain a good lifestyle balance
- Your budget and living costs

Some students will stay on campus, while others may prefer to share accommodation with other students.
