

Bachelor of Education (Early Childhood Education)

Graduate Diploma in Education (Early Childhood)

2018

Undergraduate and Postgraduate

Use your passion, creativity and life experience to impact the next generation embarking on their education.

As an early childhood educator, you'll develop the skills you need to shape young minds and become a leader in this growing field.

RMIT believes that great teachers are made in the classroom, and so professional experience is deeply embedded in your education.

RMIT's degree offers robust professional experience, which will see you taking part in over 60 days of placement with access to teacher mentors to help you succeed.

You'll graduate with a globally recognised qualification, ready to teach children from birth to age five in a range of early childhood education settings.

Who are these degrees for?

For mature students, RMIT offers two ways to become an early childhood educator:

- If you have already completed two years of teacher education, you may transfer into RMIT's Bachelor of Education (Early Childhood Education).
- If you already have an undergraduate degree and are looking to become an early childhood teacher, the Graduate Diploma in Education (Early Childhood) is for you.

RMIT's early childhood education degrees prepare graduates to create robust curricula that inform a child's first formal education experience. You'll become a dynamic teacher who understands how to plan and execute fun and educational lessons.

You will learn to demonstrate expert ethical judgment and responsibility in your professional practice, and be able to provide strategic and collaborative education leadership.

How will I learn?

Both programs are taught by academics who have strong industry links and current professional experience in the primary early childhood field.

You will experience a wide variety of teaching and learning approaches, including:

- interactive seminars
- self-directed research
- group-based learning
- reflection on visual materials
- excursions
- online discussions.

What are my career outcomes?

You will be qualified to work in a range of educational settings and you'll also have the skills and knowledge to engage in policy and consulting work in private enterprise, government agencies or community services organisations.
